Family Readiness Group Training

GETTING PREPARED, STAYING PREPARED

U.S. ARMY

OPERATION READY

Third Edition, 2005

ARMY COMMUNITY SERVICE

Army National Guard

United States Army Reserve

Department of the Army
I. PURPOSE OF FACILITATOR’S GUIDE FOR FRG TRAINING

The purpose of this facilitator’s guide is to provide guidance on the preparation and conduct of FRG training. The overview section provides details about the FRG training components and files. Section III contains separate facilitator guides for the FRG training modules. Information for conducting an evaluation of the FRG training is provided in Section IV of this guide.

II. OVERVIEW OF FRG TRAINING

The FRG training has been designed as a set of modules covering a diverse range of topics and issues. With this design, individuals have the flexibility to select and sequence any number of modules in different ways depending upon the interests of different audience groups. In addition, several modules have been designed to promote team building and to facilitate actual discussion and planning by having two audience groups present during training.

In this overview, the following information is provided about the FRG training:

- Description and audience group for FRG training modules
- Recommended training sequences for different audience groups
- Estimated training time and materials for FRG training modules.

Description of and Audience Group for FRG Training Modules

The table on page 4 provides a list of the FRG training modules, a brief description of the module, and the potential audience groups for the module.

Note: Information on Working with Family Support Network, Crisis Intervention, and How to Work with Families is provided in the Operation READY RDC training series. FRG leaders and Key callers are advised to attend these trainings, preferably with their rear detachment commander. (See Facilitator's Guide on Rear Detachment Commander Training for further details.)
Recommended Training Sequences for Different Audience Groups
The FRG training can be structured in different ways. Here are some options to consider.

JOINT TRAINING OPTION
Keep in mind that it is intended that both FRG leaders and unit leaders be in attendance whenever the module entitled “FRG Leader and Unit Leadership Partnership for Effective FRGs” is given. However, it is recommended that a more expanded joint training series with FRG leaders and unit leaders be developed and conducted. (See option below of a proposed sequencing of the modules for a joint training workshop.)

II. OVERVIEW OF FRG TRAINING

EXEMPLARY OF FRG LEADERS OPTION
Because of the release of AR 608-1, Appendix J in 2006, it is important that all FRG leaders be educated on this regulation and the implications for FRGs. For this reason, the following training is proposed for experienced FRG leaders.

II. OVERVIEW OF FRG TRAINING

Information About PowerPoint Files
A set of PowerPoint slides is available for each training module. In addition, there are PowerPoint slides containing the training agendas and objectives for different FRG trainings with different audience groups. The PowerPoint slides can be accessed by clicking the PPT link on page 8 or from the PPT folder. These slides are in the FRG Training file.

The text appearing on the PowerPoint slides are the talking points. Some slides contain additional talking points and explanations in the notes page. Instructions to the facilitator are also provided on the notes pages and appear in red italicized font. These instructions:

- Specify whether the facilitator should read the text in the notes page or on the PowerPoint slide
- Provide directions for conducting a group activity or discussion
- Indicate when a handout should be distributed to the audience.

Having provided the PowerPoint slides, the training facilitator’s preparation burden is minimized. However, facilitators can and are encouraged to supplement the slides (or discussion) with information pertaining to their local community(s) and populations they serve.

When conducting the training, the PowerPoint slides may be projected from a LCD projector using the CD provided. If this is not feasible, then two alternatives are: 1) copy PowerPoint file to a jump (also called travel) drive or computer and project the copied file to a large screen from a computer, or 2) copy onto overhead transparencies and use an overhead projector.

Information About FRG Module Facilitator Guides
A two-page facilitator’s guide is available for each training module. These module-specific facilitator guides appear in the next section of this guide (the Facilitator’s Guide for FRG Training). Each facilitator’s guide contains the following information:

- Goals – states what the audience is expected to learn from the training
- References – indicates what sections of the Operation READY products (namely the Family Readiness Group Leader’s Handbook and Rear Detachment Commander’s Handbook) were used to develop the training module
- Proposed training facilitator – it is assumed that in many instances, the FRG training will be given by ACS/Reserve Component Family Program staff; however, when other individuals can conduct the training, these individuals will be identified
- Audience group scenarios – identifies the different audience groups who could receive this training; in some cases, it will be recommended that two different groups participate in the training together
- Training format – all modules are given as an informational presentation; however, when group discussions or exercises are included this is noted
- Training time – provides an estimate of the length of training; Note that in some modules time needs to be allocated for group discussions or Q & A at the end of training
- Room requirements – describes the recommended room arrangements for conducting this training
- Facilitator’s preparation – identifies the planning and training preparations and logistics needed to conduct this training; this section also identifies the handouts for the training.
FRG Overview: Facilitator’s Guide
The facilitator’s guide for the FRG Overview provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
The audience will develop a good understanding of the role of the Family Readiness Group.

Proposed training facilitator
ACS/Reserve Component Family Programs staff are to give this presentation to FRG leaders and unit leaders.

Audience group scenarios
1. FRG leaders
2. FRG leaders and unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders, family liaison officers, FRG Deployment Support Assistants)
3. Unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders, and family readiness liaisons)
4. FRG volunteers
5. FRG Deployment Support Assistants

Training format
Informational presentation

Training time
One hour (approximately)

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies.
Facilitator’s Preparation

The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:

Planning and training preparation

• Plan an icebreaker activity. (Conduct an icebreaker only if this module is the beginning of a series of training modules that will be conducted with the audience.)
• Review training slides.
• Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  – Operation READY FRG Leader’s Handbook
  – Sample icebreaker activities (see files on CD, “FRG Training” and file labeled Icebreaker Activities)
  – List of Acronyms (see handouts section)
  – Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
  – Provide a copy of the evaluation form for each participant.
  – Prepare transparencies, if using
  – Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics

• Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants. If having refreshments, consider space for refreshments.
• Arrange for refreshments.
• Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
• Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  – Pens and pencils for participants’ use
  – Overhead transparency projector
  OR
  – Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen

SECTION II: SELECTED KEY TERMS

- Active Army: Soldiers on continuous active duty
- Alert: Emergency call to be ready for further action
- Augmentee: A soldier who is assigned to one unit but temporarily attached to another unit during an emergency, exercise, or actual deployment.
- Caregiver: A person who takes care of one who cannot take care of themselves; may or may not be a family member
- Family Care Plan (FCP): A written document that must be prepared by each dual-military family and single parent and kept on file at the unit. The family care plan specifies who has been designated to care for family members when parents are mobilized or deployed, and includes necessary powers of attorney and other required authorization forms.
- Family Readiness Plan (FRP): A written plan prepared by the company, battery, or troop unit commanders. Battalion commanders and above will be responsible for coordinating unit family readiness plans in their commands.
- Privacy Act: Privacy Act Law protects personal information. It defines when Federal Agencies can collect, store and release personal information, and requires Federal Agencies to inform people when their information will be collected, and for what use.
- Telephone Tree: A roster of unit personnel, their adult family members, and their telephone numbers. The tree—
  - Usually begins with a primary POC and “branches out” to other personnel.
  - Must be marked FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY and include a Privacy Act statement.
FRG’s Tasks in the Deployment Cycle
The facilitator’s guide for the FRG’s Tasks in the Deployment Cycle provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
The audience will develop an understanding of what the FRG is expected to do in each phase of the deployment cycle.

Proposed training facilitator
ACS/Reserve Component Family Programs staff are to give this presentation to FRG leaders and unit leaders.

Audience group scenarios
1. FRG leaders
2. FRG leaders and unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders, and family readiness liaisons)
3. Unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders, and family readiness liaisons)
4. FRG volunteers
5. FRG leaders and their FRG volunteers
6. FRG Deployment Support Assistants

Training format
Informational presentation

Training time
One hour and a half (approximately)

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies. If audience groups 2 and 5 (see above) are present, then it is suggested that participants sit in groups (either by battalion for group 2 or by FRG for group 5).

Facilitator’s Preparation
The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:
Planning and training preparation

- Review training slides
- Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  - FRG Leader’s Handbook (Note: This is not necessary if a handbook was provided at the beginning of training.)
  - FRG’s checklist for each deployment phase found in Part IV of the FRG Leader’s Handbook. (Please note there is an FRG Leader and FRG checklist in each phase) (Note: May be used as an alternative handout to handbook)
  - Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
  - Prepare transparencies, if using
  - Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics

- Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants. If having refreshments, consider space for refreshments.
- Arrange for refreshments.
- Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
- Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  - Pens and pencils for participants’ use
    - Overhead transparency projector
    OR
    - Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen
FRG Leader and Unit Leadership Partnership for Effective FRGs

The facilitator’s guide for the FRG Leader and Unit Leadership Partnership for Effective FRGs provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
The audience will develop a good understanding of how the FRG leader-unit leader partnership works.

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies. It is recommended that the FRG leaders and unit leaders sit grouped together at tables by unit and/or by battalion to facilitate FRG leader-unit leader dialogue before, during and after the presentation.

Facilitator’s Preparation
The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including facilitating communication between FRG leaders and unit leaders as well as distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:

Planning and training preparation
- Plan an icebreaker activity. (Conduct an icebreaker only if this is the first of a series of modules or only module to be conducted with this audience.)
III. FACILITATOR’S GUIDE FOR FRG TRAINING MODULES

- Review training slides
- Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  - FRG Leader’s Handbook (Note: This is not necessary if a handbook was provided at the beginning of training.)
  - Sample icebreaker activities (see files on CD, “FRG Training” and file labeled Icebreaker Activities)
  - Sample Appointment Order (see handouts section)

How To Be An Effective FRG Leader
The facilitator’s guide for How to Be an Effective FRG Leader provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
FRG leaders will develop a good understanding of what it takes to be an effective FRG leader. FRG leaders will think about and use this information as a guide during the time they serve as an FRG leader.

Proposed training facilitator
ACS/Reserve Component Family Programs staff

Audience group
FRG leaders (and co-leaders)

Training format
Informational presentation with group discussions and exercises

Training time
Two and half hours (approximately) (includes exercises and discussions)

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies. To facilitate FRG leader networking and group work, it is suggested that FRG leaders sit at tables seating 6–8 people. Consider having a mix of experienced and new FRG leaders at tables to provide the opportunity for mentoring.

Facilitator’s Preparation
The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including facilitating group activities, promoting FRG leader connections, and distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:

Planning and training preparation
• Review training slides
• Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  – FRG Leader’s Handbook
– Volunteer Award Nominations (see handout section)
– Sample Template for FRG Meeting Minutes (see handout section)
– Overcoming Your Fear of Public Speaking (see handout section)
– Strength from Diversity (see handout section)
– Feedback from FRG Membership (see handout section)
– Coping with Stress (see handout section)
– Assessment of FRG Operations (see handout section)
– Group Discussion Scenarios (see handout section)
– Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
– Prepare transparencies, if using
– Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics

• Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants. If having refreshments, consider space for refreshments.
• Arrange for refreshments.
• Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
• Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  – Flip chart paper on easel and colored markers
  – Masking tape for securing chart paper
  – Pads of notepaper for participants’ use, especially for group exercises
  – Pens and pencils for participants’ use
  – Overhead transparency projector
  OR
  – Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen

Volunteer Award Nominations

There may be occasions when the unit or FRG wants to recognize a volunteer with a special award outside of the unit’s award system. For information about various volunteer awards that are available in the military and civilian community, check with the following agencies/offices:

- Army Volunteer Corps Coordinator
- Army Community Service Director
- National Guard Family Program office for your state
- Army Reserve Family Program Coordinator
- Local Voluntary Action Center
- Directors of Volunteers in Agencies (DOVIA)
- Your governor’s Office of Volunteerism
- Civilian organizations that utilize the talents of volunteers.

When making inquiries about awards, be sure to get the nomination form and to find out the due date for submitting completed nomination forms.

How to Prepare a Nomination for Submission

Review the eligibility requirements. Before preparing a submission, review the eligibility requirements to determine that the individual you wish to nominate meets the award program criteria. Many organizations will disqualify the nominee immediately if the requirements are not met.

Write and prepare submission. When preparing a submission, it is always important to keep in mind and to address the criteria on which the award is being given. Different awards or agencies often have different requirements. These requirements are typically listed in the award program materials. In addition, it is important to provide the information requested. Typically you will be asked to provide the following:

- Information about the program the volunteer serves. Give information about the mission and activities of the FRG program, how many families are supported, how many hours are volunteered, and the relevance to the award category.
- A general description of the volunteer’s role and/or duties performed
- The number of volunteer hours contributed to the FRG
- A general description of the volunteer’s accomplishments and/or important contributions (e.g., special project initiated and completed) (note: this is what you want the volunteer to be recognized for so you need to demonstrate the significant contribution made)
- Supporting information (e.g., examples of written or verbal comments made about the volunteer; copy of thank you letter or commendation letter in files; references). (Note: In some instances, you may need to ask others to prepare or sign a document to support the volunteer’s nomination. When approaching others with your request, it is helpful to provide them with a description of the award program objectives and eligibility requirements.)

Here are some other tips on how to write a nomination:
- Develop an outline first.
- Use action words and state clearly what the volunteer has done. Emphasize the results achieved or how others benefited from what the volunteer did. For example: “Through good working relationships with military leaders and other volunteers, Susie planned and executed a picnic on July 4, serving over 500 military and civilian family members. She was directly responsible for the high attendance. Families verbally stated it was helpful to be with other families while Soldiers were deployed,” instead of, “She worked well with others.” Another example, “The Family Readiness Group’s membership participation increased 75 percent under Jane’s leadership.”

• Be specific. Provide quantitative information (e.g., number of volunteer hours, number of families assisted).
• Make it easy to read. Always submit a typed nomination form and supporting documentation. Allow “white” or “clear” space on the forms. If the nomination form or supporting documents look “too full” or “too cluttered,” it may not be accepted. Don’t try to be fancy with various typefaces or unique formats.
• Define any acronyms used (e.g., FRG).
• Write a well organized document.

Review your document and paperwork to be submitted. In many instances, when nomination forms are reviewed, organizations use a point system to “score” different sections. Therefore review your submission to ensure directions have been followed correctly.
Sample Template for FRG Meeting Minutes

Minutes of ________ Family Readiness Group Meeting
(date)

1. Meeting called to order at (time) by (name of presider).
   (Everyone attending should have a copy of the agenda.)

2. Present were:
   (list names of all attending)

3. Review minutes of the last meeting (these can be read by the secretary, or each person may be given a copy to read).
   Ask for additions or corrections.
   Minutes stand approved as read or corrected.

4. Read the FRG Informal Fund manager’s report (even if no action occurred). (Note: Monthly reports are submitted to unit commander and one retained in fund manager’s files.)

5. Committee reports.

7. Introduce new business.
   (The secretary should keep accurate notes of what is discussed and what votes are taken. Motions should be asked for on anything that requires a vote of the membership, after sufficient discussion.)

8. Announcements.

9. Adjournment (ask for motion and second, and vote for adjournment). There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at (time).

FRG Secretary
Overcoming Your Fear of Public Speaking

Breathe. Take a few deep breaths before you begin speaking; stop and breathe between sentences.

Self Talk. Tell yourself you are not going to die; others have done this and lived. You know your material. You are good.

Visualize. Imagine yourself talking to the group. Imagine the time, place, how you will feel, and what you will say. Imagine how confident you are.

Solid Stance. Don't sway back and forth or side to side. Don't lock your knees. Relax!

Arrive Early. Allow time to be sure everything is ready, and get acquainted with the room—how it feels, smells, looks.

Greet Your Audience. Before you begin, say hello to a few people. Then you will know a few people by name and will know what interests your audience.

Food. Eat nutritional food, and avoid sugar and caffeine.

Pace Yourself. Pace yourself so your energy stays constant.

Practice. Practice your material and your non-verbal messages, such as hand movements, eye contact, and stance.

Find an “Amen Corner.” Find a friendly face that you can look to for confidence, but don't lock onto that face.

Water. Have a glass of water handy; it helps with dry mouth. If you forget where you are or what you were going to say, take a quick sip to give yourself time to recover.

Don't Read Your Presentation. This will make you more nervous. Practice, practice, practice so you will need your notes only for numbers and to assist you in remembering your key points.

Practice. Practice in front of a friend; use a video camera, a tape recorder, or a mirror.

Get Training. Take AFTB module entitled “Effective Public and Media Relations” module in level 3.
Strength from Diversity

It is important that the individuals participating in the FRG are representative of the unit’s families. For example, both officer and enlisted families should participate. To make the FRG appealing to all families requires being aware of the diversity of the membership and recognizing the strengths that can come from having a diverse group. Think about the diverse needs, interests, talents, and other characteristics in your FRG as you answer the questions below.

1. List at least three different characteristics of your FRG membership. Beside each characteristic, write how this characteristic strengthens the group. (For example, young spouses often have many concerns during a deployment. Their concerns have led the FRG to invite guest speakers to get information of interest to many families.)

2. What strategies are needed for ALL members to feel involved in the FRG? Note: It may be necessary to use different strategies with different groups.

3. Describe a conflict in your FRG and identify how diversity contributed to the conflict. How has this conflict been resolved OR if unresolved, how can the conflict be handled?
Feedback From FRG Members

Your FRG is here to provide information, referral assistance and support to all members of the unit and their families – both immediate and extended as well as other individuals that Soldiers have identified to us. We recognize that participation in the FRG is voluntary. However, we encourage you to participate in FRG activities or to remain connected with FRG (via telephone tree) so that helpful information and assistance can be provided to you. To help us (and the unit commander) determine how the FRG can meet your needs on an ongoing basis, we need your input and feedback. Please take a moment to address the issues of concern to you at the present time.

Assistance
1. What information or support can the FRG provide or obtain that would be helpful to you?

2. a. Some members live far away and it is important to us that we reach you. How well is the FRG doing in reaching you? (For example, do you receive calls from a key caller, receive FRG newsletter, and, if available, have access to battalion’s vFRG web site?)

   b. How can we assist you where you live?

Participation
1. a. You (or you may know others who) would like to participate but currently do not participate. What is the reason?

   b. What can we do that would help individuals and families get involved and/or feel a part of the FRG?

2. If you have participated in the past, but currently do not. What is the reason?

3. a. If you are an active participant, what keeps you involved?

   b. What does the FRG do that is important to you?

Closing
1. What, if any, other comments or suggestions would you like to make?

Thank you for taking a moment to do this. You can provide feedback at any time.

Tips For Managing Stress

It is important to deal with stress in effective ways. When stress is not addressed, it can affect your health, job, relationships with other people, and other aspects of your life. Here are some tips on ways to manage stress. These tips are designed to increase your ability to cope with situations and reduce your level of stress.

Maintain health and well-being
- Take good care of yourself. Exercise, eat properly, and get enough sleep. Maintaining your health is very important, especially in highly stressful situations.
- Avoid using alcohol and drugs.
- Try to have a sense of humor. Laughter is a helpful way to relieve stress.

Manage your time or change situation
- Take one thing at a time. Determine priorities and pace yourself accordingly.
- Be realistic about what you can't do. Ask for help when you need it.
- Know your limits. Say “no” when you need to do so.
- Be flexible. Accept that you don't have control over some situations. Give in occasionally.
- Avoid things that make you feel worse. For example, limit the time spent watching the news.

Take action when “stressed out”
- Do activities that help you relax. Meditate, walk, listen to music, write in a journal, or whatever works for you to help you relax.
- Do something fun and enjoyable.
- Take a break. When possible, take a few days off. In busy times, taking a five minute break or brief walk can be helpful to reenergize.
- Talk with others about your feelings. Talk to family, friends, and others. You may find that other people are experiencing the same feelings, and you are not alone.
- Get professional help, if necessary. Seek professional help if you are feeling too stressed or experiencing thoughts of suicide, hopelessness or extreme anger. Seeking help is a healthy thing to do. Contact your local religious leader, mental health association, or other agencies in your community that provide counseling services.

Military One Source (MOS)
MOS is also available to you. This military resource provides confidential counseling and assistance 24 hours a day through a toll-free number and Internet access:

- From outside the United States ONLY: (toll free) 800-342-6477 or call collect: 484-530-5908.

Assessment of FRG Operations

This form provides a framework for reviewing FRG operations and procedures and determining where changes may be needed. This form is a tool that can be used at the end of a FRG leader’s tenure or during the train-up/preparation phase of the deployment cycle. This form is for internal use only. After giving careful thought to these issues, the FRG leader may want to discuss important matters with the unit commander or share relevant information with the next leader of the FRG.

Group Discussion Scenarios

Scenario 1: You have been the FRG leader for 8 months now and you are feeling stressed out. You are overwhelmed by the ongoing demands of FRG and families calling you. You are feeling low and worried about your spouse who is currently deployed in Iraq. You have declined offers of assistance from other FRG staff and are trying to persevere, but it is not working too well. What do you do?

Scenario 2: Three months after Soldiers have returned, the FRG conducted a few activities, but very few people showed up. In the months that follow, the FRG continues to conduct activities, but very few people show up. What is happening? What should the FRG be doing?
Getting Started
The facilitator’s guide for Getting Started provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
FRG leaders will know how to get their FRG fully prepared to carry out the FRG mission. FRG leaders will be able to develop and implement a clear plan of action.

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies. To facilitate communication among FRG leaders before, during and after the training, it is suggested that FRG leaders sit at tables seating 6–8 people. An alternative is to pair up experienced FRG leaders with new leaders at tables to promote mentoring.

Facilitator’s Preparation
The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including promoting connections between FRG leaders and distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:

Planning and training preparation
• Plan an icebreaker activity. (Conduct an icebreaker only if this module is the first module of the training series or follow-on training conducted with a group of FRG leaders.)
• Review training slides
• Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  – FRG Leader’s Handbook (Note: This is not necessary if a handbook was provided at the beginning of training.)
III. FACILITATOR’S GUIDE FOR FRG TRAINING MODULES

− Sample icebreaker activities (see files on CD, “FRG Training” and file labeled Icebreaker Activities)
− Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
− Prepare transparencies, if using
− Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics
• Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants. If having refreshments, consider space for refreshments.
• Arrange for refreshments.
• Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
• Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  − Flip chart paper on easel and colored markers

Tips For Managing Stress

It is important to deal with stress in effective ways. When stress is not addressed, it can affect your health, job, relationships with other people, and other aspects of your life. Here are some tips on ways to manage stress. These tips are designed to increase your ability to cope with situations and reduce your level of stress.

Maintain health and well-being

🌟 Take good care of yourself. Exercise, eat properly, and get enough sleep. Maintaining your health is very important, especially in highly stressful situations.

🌟 Avoid using alcohol and drugs.

🌟 Try to have a sense of humor. Laughter is a helpful way to relieve stress.

Manage your time or change situation

🌟 Take one thing at a time. Determine priorities and pace yourself accordingly.

🌟 Be realistic about what you and can’t do. Ask for help when you need it.

🌟 Know your limits. Say “no” when you need to do so.

🌟 Be flexible. Accept that you don’t have control over some situations. Give in occasionally.

🌟 Avoid things that make you feel worse. For example, limit the time spent watching the news.

Take action when “stressed out”

🌟 Do activities that help you relax. Meditate, walk, listen to music, write in a journal, or whatever works for you to help you relax.

🌟 Do something fun and enjoyable.

🌟 Take a break. When possible, take a few days off. In busy times, taking a five minute break or brief walk can be helpful to reenergize.

🌟 Talk with others about your feelings. Talk to family, friends, and others. You may find that other people are experiencing the same feelings, and you are not alone.

🌟 Get professional help, if necessary. Seek professional help if you are feeling too stressed or experiencing thoughts of suicide, hopelessness or extreme anger. Seeking help is a healthy thing to do. Contact your local religious leader, mental health association, or other agencies in your community that provide counseling services.

Dealing With the Media
The facilitator’s guide for Dealing with the Media provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
The audience will know what to do and say when approached by the media.

References
- Operation READY's Army Family Readiness Group Leader’s Handbook: Part III (the topic of “media guidance” appears in section 3.3)
- AFTB’s “Effective Public and Media Relations” module (level 3)

Proposed training facilitators
- ACS/Reserve Component Family Programs staff – to coordinate training
- Public Affairs Office – to conduct training for FRG leaders and unit leadership
- Senior military leader or unit PAO – to conduct training for unit leaders

Audience group scenarios
1. FRG leaders
2. FRG leaders and unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders)
3. Unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders)
4. Family Readiness Liaisons and FRG Deployment Support Assistants

Training format
Informational presentation; mock-up interview exercises highly recommended

Training time
20 minutes (approximately, without exercises); One hour (approximately with exercises)

Room requirements
This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies.

Facilitator’s Preparation
The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:
Planning and training preparation

- Review training slides unless presentation being given by PAO or military leaders.
- Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  - FRG Leader’s Handbook. Provide a copy if participants do not already have a copy.
  - Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended); If guest speaker giving presentation, determine how copies of their presentation will be made available.
  - Prepare transparencies, if using
  - Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics

- Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants.
- Arrange for Public Affairs Officer to serve as guest speaker and/or be on hand to answer questions. Also may want to arrange for senior military leader to serve as presenter if the audience is battalion or company level commanders.
- Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  - Flip chart paper on easel and colored markers
  - Masking tape for securing chart paper
  - Pens and pencils for participants’ use
  - Overhead transparency projector
  OR
  - Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen
Resources for Funding FRGs

The facilitator’s guide for the Resources and Funding of FRGs provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal

The audience will know the Army regulation on FRG funding and resources. Unit leadership will know their responsibilities related to funding and resourcing their FRG. FRG leaders will know what resources are available to support different FRG activities and how to access these resources. The FRG Informal Fund manager will know their responsibilities related to the FRG’s Informal Fund.

Audience group scenarios

1. FRG leaders
2. FRG leaders and unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders, Family Readiness Liaisons)
3. Unit leadership (unit commanders, rear detachment commanders)
4. FRG leaders, unit leadership, and FRG Informal Fund managers (Treasurers)
5. FRG volunteers
6. FRG Deployment Support Assistants

Training format

Informational presentation

Training time

One hour and a half (approximately)

Room requirements

This presentation requires a room large enough to accommodate the participants comfortably. The room should be arranged for maximum visibility of projected training slides/transparencies. If audience groups 2 and 4 are present, then consider having attendees sit grouped by units to facilitate discussions about these issues relative to their FRG.
Facilitator’s Preparation

The facilitator is responsible for leading the workshop, which includes set up; printing or copying slides, handouts and other materials; and conducting training (including facilitating discussions between FRG leaders and unit leaders and distributing materials). To prepare for this training, the following tasks need to be done:

Planning and training preparation

• Review training slides
• Assemble materials and copy/print the number of materials needed to include:
  – FRG Leader’s Handbook (Note: This is not necessary if a handbook was provided at the beginning of training.)
  – AR 608-1, Appendix J (see Operation READY Smart Book)
  – FRG Funding and Resources Frequently Asked Questions (see Operation READY Smart Book)
  – Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
  – Prepare transparencies, if using
  – Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics

• Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants.
• Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
• Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  – Flip chart paper on easel and colored markers
  – Masking tape for securing chart paper
  – Pens and pencils for participants’ use
  – Overhead transparency projector
  OR
  – Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen
FRGs Role in Unit Casualty
The facilitator’s guide for the FRG’s Role In Unit Casualty provides information about how and to whom this training module is to be given. Information about preparations and resources for this training is also provided.

Goal
The audience will understand the FRG’s role when a unit casualty occurs. The FRG leader will know how to prepare for these trauma situations.

– Provide a copy of PowerPoint slide set to each participant (optional, but highly recommended)
– Prepare transparencies, if using
– Have PowerPoint file available, if using computer

Logistics
• Reserve a room large enough to accommodate the number of participants.
• Consider having a senior military leader present or asking unit leaders present at the training to discuss casualty notification procedures for the installation or unit, respectively.
• Determine need for childcare and if necessary, make arrangements.
• Obtain equipment and supplies to include:
  – Flip chart paper on easel and colored markers
  – Masking tape for securing chart paper
  – Pens and pencils for participants’ use
  – Overhead transparency projector
  OR
  – Laptop computer with LCD projector and screen
IV. EVALUATION OF FRG TRAINING

It is recommended that an evaluation of the training conducted with different audience groups be conducted after all training modules have been given. The purpose of this evaluation is to provide the facilitator with information that will be useful for conducting FRG training with different audience groups in the future. An evaluation form, which appears on the following page, is provided for your use.
